Obituary

Dr. Iuppa, obstetrician; practiced at St. Mary’s

Dr. Louis A. Iuppa, a longtime obstetrician and former chief of staff at St. Mary’s Hospital in Rochester, died Jan. 2, 1999. He was 92.

Dr. Iuppa, a Rochester native, was a graduate of Aquinas Institute, St. Bonaventure University and Georgetown University Medical School. He joined the St. Mary’s Hospital staff in 1932 and spent his entire career there before retiring in 1980.

Dr. Iuppa’s son, Dr. J. Bruce Iuppa, himself an obstetrician, said his father delivered more than 10,000 babies during his career and was touched by the miracle of life with each new delivery.

“He had a gleam in his eye. That never failed to impress him,” Dr. J. Bruce Iuppa said, adding that his father took special care to talk with the new mothers and other family members — almost like a midwife.

Dr. Hal Akyuz, an obstetrician who worked with Dr. Iuppa from 1965 to 1980, agreed that Dr. Iuppa tried to help his patients in any way possible.

“He was the nicest man I ever met,” Dr. Akyuz remarked.

Dr. Akyuz also noted that Dr. Iuppa remained highly skilled in his craft up until his retirement.

“Even after 70 (years old), he was as sharp as any 35-year-old,” Dr. Akyuz commented.

Dr. J. Bruce Iuppa, himself an obstetrician, said he was eager to follow in his father’s footsteps after observing him in action many times during his childhood.

“He’d take me to the hospital with him at night,” Dr. J. Bruce Iuppa said. “I always enjoyed that little time I had with him.

Dr. Iuppa was predeceased by his wife, Josephine. He is survived by his brother, Vincent; sons Dr. J. Bruce (Mary Lou) Iuppa and Robert L. (Susan) Iuppa; daughters Karen, Andrea Iuppa Jepson and Mary Jo Iuppa and her husband Peter Tiney; 15 grandchildren; 14 great-grandchildren; and cousins, nieces and nephews.

A memorial Mass for Dr. Iuppa took place Jan. 6 at St. Thomas More Church in Brighton.

Donations in Dr. Iuppa’s memory may be made to St. Mary’s Hospital Foundation — OB/GYN Nursing Education Fund, 1555 Long Pond Road, Rochester, N.Y. 14626.

A new publication presented by

The Diocese of Rochester and the Catholic Courier

The Diocese of Rochester
In America 1868 - 1993
Second Edition, Emended and Expanded
By Rev. Robert F. McNamara, Diocesan Historian

This new edition of Fr. McNamara’s acclaimed text — originally published in 1968 and long out of print — extends the story of the Rochester Diocese through its 125th anniversary in 1993. Included are the 14 original chapters and Epilogue, plus Bishop James E. Keamy commissioned Fr. McNamara to prepare for the diocese centennial in 1968, as well as a rich collection of photographs that help bring personalities and events to life. A new chapter completed this year explores the Diocese’s fifth quarter-century (1968-1993), a fascinating period of change during which three bishops — Fulton J. Sheen, Joseph L. Hogan, and Matthew H. Clark — have occupied the See of Rochester.

The book was hailed upon initial publication as “splendid,” “a thorough, competent and most fascinating work” by “one of the best historical craftsmen of American Catholicism.” Reissued now by popular demand, this new edition will be treasured by anyone interested in American Catholicism, Western New York history, immigration, parochial school education, or church-state relations — as well as by all who enjoy a lively narrative of sweeping proportion.

Juice bar defeated

Claire Sementino, a parishioner of Most Precious Blood Church, Rochester, listens to Gustave DeTraglia Jr., a Utica attorney representing C&A Playmaties, as he fields questions from the Rochester Planning Commission Jan. 4 about plans to open a nude juice bar at 1465 Mt. Read Blvd. More than 200 people attended the commission meeting to oppose the plan, which the commission subsequently voted down. A proposal to open a strip club at the same site was withdrawn in August in the face of similar opposition. Most Precious Blood parishioner Bernadine Gordon, who led the opposition, said the most recent effort failed because the owners “could not prove that this would benefit our neighborhood.” Gordon said that her group hopes that someone will buy the former restaurant and put it to good use. “Then we’ll have a big celebration,” she said. “We’ve fought it twice. We don’t want to have to fight it again.”
