

FEATURE

Swinging into summer

Tournament committee member Mary Pluta, a parishioner at St. Louis, Pittsford, reacts to a missed putt.

After sinking her putt, St. Louis parishioner Kim Glavin (left) laughs at the cheers of her teammates, Jane Dever (center), of Mendon's St. Catherine of Siena, and Jodi DiPofi, of Pittsford's Church of the Transfiguration.

Don Jones, a parishioner at Our Mother of Sorrows in Greece, watches his ball descend after a long drive.

More than 130 golfers attended the fifth-annual Catholic Schools Scholarship Golf Classic June 27 at Greystone Golf Course in Walworth. All 30 Catholic schools in Monroe County were involved in helping, and each had a representative on the planning committee. "This is a 'friend-raising' event," said Sister Anne Guerin, SSJ, committee member and diocesan Catholic schools communications director. "It brings people together that have interest in Catholic schools." The Catholic Courier was one of six major sponsors for the event.

The tournament was scramble-style, and the day ended with a putting contest in which participants played for the schools of their choice. A banquet with raffle and prizes followed. Bishop Matthew H. Clark and former Schools Superintendent Timothy Dwyer received golden putters to recognize their support of the tournament.

Photos by Andrea Dixon

Mike Roorda (left), baseball coach at All Saints Junior High in Gates, and Brian Mayeu, a parishioner at Rochester's Holy Family, watch intently as All Saints Principal Bill Davis attempts a putt.