

Catholic radio station to hold Lenten retreat

News Analysis Catholic Courier | Diocese of Rochester, NY | February 19, 2004

"Our Catholic Faith — The Path to Holiness" is the theme of The Station of the Cross/WHIC 1460 AM radio's annual Lenten conference, which will be held March 19-20 at the Buffalo Convention Center.

WHIC, the first full-time Catholic radio station in Monroe County, was established in July 2003 by Holy Family Communications of Buffalo, which also includes Buffalo's 101.7 FM WLOF and stations in Scranton, Pa. and Youngstown, Ohio.

Dr. Alan Keyes will headline the event, addressing his experiences as a Catholic in public life. Keyes has hosted talk shows and served on the National Security Council, the U.S. Foreign Service and the United Nations. Dr. Ray Guarendi, clinical psychologist and author of a syndicated parenting column, will speak about raising a family in the Catholic faith in a society that's not always conducive to Catholic morals.

The conference will also feature presentations by Rosalind Moss and Jason Evert. Moss, who was born and raised in a Jewish home, will discuss her conversion to Catholicism. Evert is the author of several books, including one promoting abstinence among young people.

The two-day conference this year will feature a separate youth track, which will be held March 20. The program is called "Choosing to be Catholic" and is designed to "take the mystery out of being Catholic and discuss what it means to be a Catholic young adult" in today's world, according to a press release from Holy Family Communications.

According to Holy Family Communications, more than 3,000 people attended the 2003 conference, with this year's conference attendance expected to surpass that number.

Holy Family Communications is an independent, not-for-profit and listener-supported organization. Its four stations reach a combined total of more than 3 million listeners.
